Travel with Technology; learn with the world.

Web2.0

- Read/Write Web, information is not static, users view, collaborate & publish work – creatively & collaboratively

PLN

- Personal Learning Network, use to connect with other professionals, share and receive resources. Have something cool to share? Share it with your PLN. Have a question or need a resource? Ask your PLN.

MICROBLOGS: informal, brief, sharing; messages can be submitted via text messaging, instant messaging, E-mail, digital audio or the web.

TWITTER: "What are you doing" 140 characters or less, post links, photos, video, etc. Build your PLN by searching for others with your interest. Follow them & see who they follow. Anything you post can be seen by your followers.

PLURK: 140 characters, timeline format (similar to twitter but visually different).

NING: social network built around a common interest or theme. Users create a home page, join and create groups, post comments, blogs, and resources.

WIKI: allows the easy creation and editing of any number of interlinked Web pages by multiple users. Think of it as an online book written by multiple contributors. Wiki pages can include video, photos, and audio.

SOCIAL BOOKMARKS: share, organize, search, and manage bookmarks of web resources. Some bookmarking sites allow users to join or create groups to compile resources of similar interests.

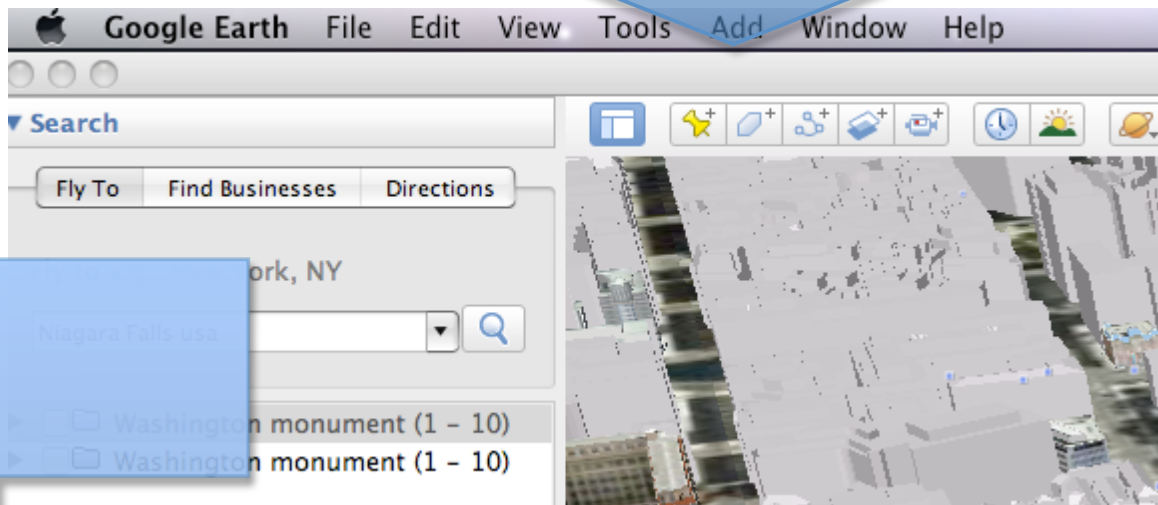

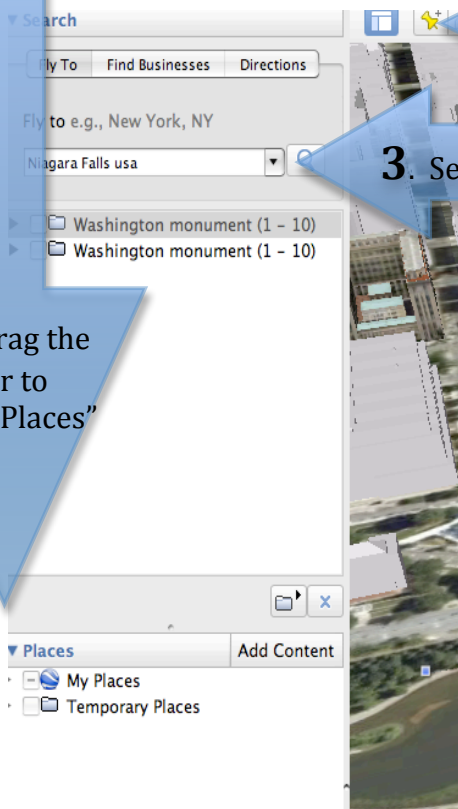

Google Earth: view satellite imagery, 3D buildings, take & make tours.

Mapwing: build, share, and explore virtual tours. Turn your digital photos into virtual tours that include interactive maps, images, and comments. Share your virtual tours with others. You will need to sign up for a free account.
